Responsibility for capital investments

A portfolio bond policy is a free method of saving, and you as the policy holder is responsible for the way in which capital is invested, and for the risk level of the investment.

Guarantee

The policy does not include any guarantee regarding future returns or for limiting possible downturns.

Assets in which the capital can be invested

The insurance capital is placed in a custody account at a bank or other securities that Futur has an collaboration with and can then be invested in a wide range of shares, funds and other securities. The custody account is formally owned by Futur, but it is you as the policy holder that is responsible for the investment policy and risk. Futur does not exercise any active ownership and does not monitor or protect the value of the investment. A securities list with detailed information can be ordered from your adviser or directly from Futur. Investment opportunities may vary depending on the selected custodian.

Asset management service

No asset management services are offered in connection with the signing of a portfolio bond policy.

Payouts

Payouts of capital are made through repurchase. The policy can be repurchased at any time, either in part or in full – which will then terminate the policy. The capital must be paid out in full at the latest once the insured person reaches the 95 years of age. Payouts will be made by liquidating the securities in the custody account, after which the cash will be paid out by Futur.

Fees

The fees for the product consists of the administrative fees from Futur and the custodian you have selected as well as any transaction fees, and fees for your own asset management. Information about fees related to your custody account can be ordered by your adviser, Futur or selected custodian.

In the event of a change of custodian without the sale of custody account assets, administration fees of SEK 3000 will be charged. In the event of any change or transfer to another custodian via sales and new investment, no fees will be charged.

Tax regulations

All payouts from the endowment insurance are tax-free. Premiums paid are not deductible in your tax return. An endowment insurance policy is taxed on the basis of a flat rate return and is calculated and charged regardless of whether you have received any return or not. The tax is determined by multiplying the capital base by a tax rate of 30 per cent of the government loan rate as at 30 November of the year preceding the tax year plus 1 per cent, although at least 1.25 per cent. Premiums pay the first half half of the year, are taxed like previous described, while premiums that are paid in during the second half of the year are taxed at only half the rate.

Insurance cover

Protection for survivors

The insurance is always covered by a repayment cover that can not be deselected. Repayment cover means that 101 per cent of the insurance value is paid out if you, as the insured person, were to die. The cost of repayment cover depends on the amount of insurance and the age of the insured party, and can not therefore be reported in this fact sheet.

Protection in the event of illness

Can only be signed in conjunction with company-owned insurance in Direktension. The policy can be subscribed with a waiver of premium that pays the insurance premium if you as an insured person were to become incapacitated at least half (50 per cent) as a result of long-term illness or accidents. The cost of waiver of premium depends on your age.

Conditions for the transfer of savings or repurchases

Repurchases can be made at any time that suits you (see also Payouts). In the event of a repurchase, the holding will be subject to the applicable fees for the disposal of securities. Changes in custodian where Futur manages the transfer of existing securities can be done against a fee.
